

Webinar Title: Passport to Independence: Responsive Treatment Options for Persons Who Have Sexually Offended

Presenters: Robin J. Wilson, Ph.D., ABPP; Michele K. Burns, B.Sc.;
Erin Bresee, B.A.; Marshalee M. McQueen, B.A.

Date: 10/09/2018

Sponsored by NEARI Press and Orlando Behavior Health, LLC

Name & Degree: _____

License: _____ (i.e. Social Work, Psychology) Lic. No.: _____ State: ____

(We need all of the above to provide your CE Certificate)

CE Questions

Please answer True or False for each item below

1. Sexual violence is an uncontrollable epidemic. T/F
2. Interventions for persons who have engaged in criminal conduct are ineffective in reducing recidivism. T/F
3. The Risk-Need-Responsivity model is a theoretical framework for increasing the likelihood that interventions will be effective. T/F
4. Program development should be left to the “experts.” T/F
5. All persons are likely to enjoy a better quality of life when they strive for lifestyle balance and self-determination. T/F
6. Research has shown that a one-size-fits-all approach to treatment is most likely to succeed. T/F
7. Clients with intellectual and other cognitive limitations require modified treatment options. T/F
8. Clients don’t understand what they need in treatment. T/F

9. Seeking feedback from clients about the treatment in which they are involved increases responsivity and client buy-in. T/F
10. Working collaboratively increases the likelihood of true sexual violence prevention. T/F